

Rising Stars, 2025

Rising Stars is a Publication that gives Dundee University Fine Art Graduands the opportunity to share extracts of their Dissertations in books that are kept at the National Library, Tate Library, Duncan and Jordanstone Contemporary Art and Design Library, and for sale in Waterstones.

This is the third year that the book has been published. This year for the first time it was a student led project with 67 contributions. Dee Atkinson and I led that project working with a group of Editors and Designers to create 5 volumes in a series of books. I also co-edited the Gender Studies Volume with my artwork appearing with others on the front cover of the book, as seen below:

In the book I have provided an extract from the Research Report (2023) that informed my Dissertation which is titled, 'The Intersection of Gender, Age and Menopause: An Analysis of its Representation in Western Art and Culture'. As at this stage I am not publishing my Dissertation as I am exploring options to include it in a book that I hope to publish when I undertake my Master of Research in 2025/26.
